

Preservation Portfolio

30th November 2018

Investment Objective

The objective of the Capital Preservation portfolio is to create sufficient returns to maintain the real value of the portfolio after inflation. The portfolio can tolerate short term and limited capital loss but its primary objective is to maintain value over the medium term. The portfolio will be invested primarily in low risk assets which will be anchored to the prevailing risk free rate of return.

Market Comment

Investor sentiment during November seemed never to recover from the lows of October, while investment markets to some degree did. After a positive final week most developed and emerging market equity indices recorded positive returns for the month. Fears over Brexit led to further losses in the UK but sterling weakness helped further boost international returns. Fixed income, both government and corporate, saw modest losses as rates rose and credit spreads widened. Crypto currencies, which we have no exposure to, fell sharply but gold, which we do hold, held firm. The portfolio is expected to hold its modest underweight risk allocation into the New Year unless something unexpected changes the economic outlook materially.

Rivers Asset Classification System:

"Anchors": investments selected for low market correlation, low risk and capital preservation core characteristics. Significant allocation in low risk portfolios.

"Enhancers": selected to increase portfolio long term return but exposed to equity risk. Allocation likely to increase with risk tolerance as returns become more volatile.

"Diversifiers": selected for low correlation to traditional market equity and fixed income risk.

Diversifiers are essential for efficiency in all but the lowest and highest risk portfolios.
